A grand opening and reception of the Frank V. deBellis Collection of Italian Fine Arts was held Sunday evening in College Union 220.

Selected guests from this campus and the community were given the first preview of Frank V. deBellis Collection of Italian Fine Arts Sunday evening. The late Italian-American businessman's collection of Renaissance works span a period of three thousand years (the 14th 15th and 16th centuries).

Works from the areas of art,

Commedia del arte will be the topic of the de Bellis lecture scheduled at 8 p.m. tonight in CU 220.

music, drama, history, architecture, and science are featured. Most predominant in the exhibit, dating back to as far as the 12th century, are books, manuscripts and drawings originating from that era.

The exhibit covers the works by such figures as Dante and Petrarch in literature, Vasari and Michelangelo in the plastic arts, Palladio and Vitruvius in architecture, Palestrina and Marcello in the performing arts, Galileo and Pisani in science and technology, Machiavelli and Castiglione from political science and Aldus Manutius from printing.

The purpose of the collection is to present an extensive yet select group of rare and beautiful objects to the campus and community at large and to offer a series of performances and lectures by recognized authorities.

The exhibit, sponsored by the School of the Communicative Arts and Humanities, will be held from April 10-30, Monday through Sun. from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. The exhibit hours are extended to midnight on Friday and Saturday.

Special events scheduled around the exhibit are: Tuesday, a commedia lecture sponsored by the speech department; Wednesday, a commedia performance sponsored by the speech department; Thursday, music from the collection presented by the music department and a lecture by Prof. Gene A. Bruckner, chairman of the department of history at the University of California at Berkeley; Friday, music from the collection presented by the music department; Sunday, a lecture by Prof. Carleton Winslow from the School of Architecture and Environmental Design; Monday, a lecture by Prof. Robert Huot from the English department; April 18, a lecture by Prof. Bernard Dusek from the art department; April 19, a lecture by Prof. Vern Swanson from the School of Architecture and Environmental Design and April 20, a lecture by Dr. Charles Russell, associate dean from the School of Engineering and Technology.

All events will be held on the appropriate dates at 8 p.m. except for the music on Thurs., April 13 which will be held at 11 a.m. during College Hour.

County awarded land

Former Camp San Luis Obispo land desired by the administrators of this campus will be presented to the county by Counselor Robert H. Finch at an 11 a.m. ceremony today.

According to Administrative Vice-President Harold O. Wilson the land was not allocated to this college because of a county priority dating back to 1965 when the government first announced that the land would be available.

Final filing date approaches for ASI elections

There is an alternative to just criticizing student government. Four days are left for students to enter the election races for ASI and Student Affairs Council positions.

Friday is the final filing date for ASI officers and Student Affairs Council representatives. All petitions should be turned in by this time.

Those running for an ASI office must have a minimum of 343 signatures, while those running for SAC positions need only turn in their signed form.

The following people have filed for SAC representative since April: Darryl Boyd, David Gardner, John De Ruiter and Greg Williams for agriculture and natural science; Jon Harrison, Mike Meiring and Brad Saacson for architecture and environmental design; J.N. Benson, Steve Castle, Steve Depper and Michael Garcia for business and social sciences; Thomas Speers for communicative arts and humanities; Ron Martinelli for human development and education; Jeanne Morris for science and mathematics; Curt Lester for engineering and technology; and John W. Lange for Chief Justice.

Voters revise election policy

A handful of students bought the Election Committee's complete package of revisions for general elections.

The all-day, special election on Monday attracted almost 1,000 students—less than 10 per cent of the student body.

The students favored a majority voting system, instead of a preferential method, for electing ASI officers. The proposal passed with 878 yes votes and 97 negative votes.

"Major ASI elections will run a lot faster now," said Jim Smith, Elections Committee chairman. "We won't have to run through second and third choices to find a winner."

Smith foresaw one problem that might result with the majority voting system for electing ASI officers: In cases where one student does not acquire a majority of the votes, run-off elections will have to be scheduled to pick a winner.

An official method—a plurality system—for selecting Student Affairs Council representatives was approved by 643 students. Three-hundred voters opposed the measure. Smith said he was pleased to see a "set guideline written in the ASI Bylaws" for electing SAC members.

The student-voters agreed to transfer the day-and-time provisions for general elections from the ASI Bylaws to the SAC Operational Codes. Of the 901 voters, 612 supported the transfer.

"It will be a lot easier to change the times and dates for general elections," Smith said. "Before we would have to schedule a special Bylaws revision election. Now the changes can be made with a two-thirds majority vote from SAC."

Student Rights Alliance slate convention today

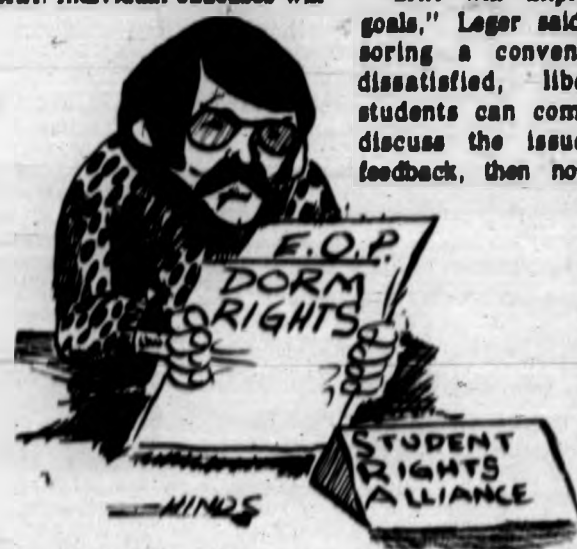

"What's it all about?" may be one of the biggest questions in the minds of students who have seen posters advertising today's political convention and a political party named the Student Rights Alliance.

The convention is slated to begin at 3 p.m. in the College Union 204 under the sponsorship of SRA. Individual caucuses will ordering of rah-rah ASI priorities is a need. Specifically, we think the rights of dorm students, EOP students, and foreign students should be met."

"We support movements to make speaker policies our own and to foster curriculum changes such as peace studies, women's studies, etc."

"SRA will implement their goals," Lager said, "by sponsoring a convention where dissatisfied, liberal-minded students can come together, discuss the issues, provide feedback, then nominate can-be held on specific issues for discussion and feedback.

Highlighting the convention will be nomination of candidates at 8 p.m.

According to SRA members Steve Lager and Dave Pollock, SRA was formed for two reasons. "One was to offer candidates and issues to which those candidates will speak—openly, publicly, and in a democratic manner," said Lager.

Lager added, "SRA was also formed to be an ongoing thing, for students who are frustrated and have no group to represent them. This will be their vehicle for change."

Pollock said, "We feel a redidates who will work for these goals."

"Individual caucuses will discuss issues such as dorm reform, the creation of a more self-supporting athletic team and consideration of tenure for coaches, and the support of environmental awareness in terms of definite steps to endorse it," according to Pollock.

He continued, "The evening session of the SRA convention will be held in Chumash at 7:30 p.m."

"We will briefly discuss and adopt issues as presented by the caucuses to be the SRA election platform."

EDITORIAL

Want good officers? look for experience

Running a student government is a lot like running a student newspaper.

Novices in both jobs usually get into office with more ambition than expertise; ability usually grows with tenure in the position.

There is one big difference on this campus, though: student editors are required to put in three quarters of work on Mustang Daily, one in an editorial-level capacity, before they can aspire to the newspaper's top job. There is no stipulation that officers of Associated Students, Inc. must have had previous governmental experience.

For that reason the student body can be, and often is, cheated. An ASI officer just elected will spend some time groping around. Half the year may go by before he is fully cognizant of the many duties and demands required of him, and the avenues he can take to achieve his program.

ASI Pres. Pete Evans was correct in his letter to the editor Monday. Lack of experience is a definite hindrance to effectiveness, no matter what degree of enthusiasm is present. It takes many months to learn the ins and outs of the vast bureaucracy we call the Associated Students, Inc.

Evans' prime contribution to student government at this school has been his ability to involve more people in its operation than in the preceding years, and consequently, his undertaking of increased workloads in many important areas. The fact that more help was needed only reflects the unwillingness on the part of some to contribute their efforts. That, too, points to the need for experienced students in office.

As campaigning begins at this school, Mustang Daily is asking students to take the time to research the backgrounds of all candidates for office and to study their proposals and campaign pledges carefully. Persons should be chosen who are qualified. For ASI president and vice president voters must decide upon persons who are already closely familiar with the myriad of committees and duties. Student government cannot be learned in a few weeks.

To further communications and knowledge of the elective process, the School of Engineering is conducting a brain-bust session in Chumash Hall Thursday. It would be well worth the while of all students to attend.

No one asks for professional politicians. An experienced officer, however, accomplishes many times over that of an inexperienced one. A newspaper editor works his way up through the system and knows what it is all about. There is no reason the same shouldn't be required for a student government officer. In this case, you, the voters, must provide for the missing qualification. You must vote for candidates who know what is going on and who can function efficiently from the start.

Strike averted; show goes on Hollywood (UPI)—A mid-day settlement Monday averted the threat of a strike which possibly could have cancelled the telecast of the 44th Annual Academy Awards presentations.

The television broadcast could have been cancelled if other employees had honored picket lines set up by a local stagehands union.

Convention emphasizes involvement

Editor:

It is the hope of the recently organized Student Right Alliance that the democratic process at Cal Poly will be enhanced at the SRA convention to be held on Tuesday night in Chumash Auditorium. Issues to be discussed and clarified will be those that form the basis of the Alliance platform. At the same time, ASI candidates will be nominated and endorsed.

Are you one of those students who doesn't fit in any of the student power groups? Then you are probably aware that you get little representation in student government, and have little or no access to student funds.

This convention is being set up expressly for you and those like you who want more change at Cal Poly; who want more control over their ASI money; who want more say in their own education and future and in the issues concerning the world around them.

But that is not all friends. It is essential that the democratic process work for all who participate. A strong possibility exists that a group with vested interests may try to direct the convention away from the programs previously mentioned—or even try and disrupt it all together.

The SRA is a serious, organized group of students. We ask that this convention tonight be attended by students who are genuinely interested in the Future of the ASI and the issues supported by the SRA. It is your future; your government; and we need you.

Tri-group concert ahead SRA convention today; Issues to be discussed...

by MALCOLM STONE

Concert time comes to the Men's Gym for the second time this quarter with the sounds of Copperhead, Stoneground and Big Brother and the Holding Company.

The event is set for Saturday night at 8 p.m. and is sponsored by Assemblies Committee. Tickets are $2.50 for students and $3.50 for general admission.

Tickets are on sale at the College Union information desk, Krasnow and Krasnow, Super-sonic, Stereo West and Brown's Music Store.

Copperhead is a relatively new group of veteran musicians. Although the group has only been together a few months, it has already received rave reviews in the Bay Area press.

The band is a quintet featuring John Cipollina as the lead guitarist and Pete Sears as the pianist-bassist.

Cipollina was one of the original members of the Quicksilver Messenger Service, and he spent five years as lead guitarist for that group before going his own way in 1970.

Sears is from England, and he plays a variety of instruments including tabla and sitar. He joined the Medicine Ball Caravan that later became Stoneground while the band was in England and returned with them to America.

Stoneground is one of the second wave bands from the San Francisco area. It is a large, powerful band of ten musicians and singers. Four of the lead singers are females with different styles and backgrounds.

Sal Valentino, singer-guitarist, is the most prolific writer in the group which performs 80 percent original music. Lynn Hughes is featured on the group's current single, Passion Flower.

Big Brother and the Holding Company has been together since 1966, and rose to national prominence when the late Janis Joplin was the lead singer. The band managed to survive without her by playing its own distinctive sound.

Now several new additions have given the old San Francisco sound new impact.

Kathy McDonald, lead singer, is one of the new additions who have given the group new life. She has been on two tours and recording sessions with Leon Russell. Her experience also includes a stint with Ike and Tina Turner as an Ikette.

Expert on outer space will lecture at Cuesta

Dr. Albert Hibbs, Cal Tech scientist and space exploration expert, will speak on the "fascinating possibility" of life on other planets in the Cuesta College Community Auditorium, at 8:00 p.m. on April 18.

Hibbs' discussion, entitled "Life On Other Planets," will include new observations and theories about astronomy, geology and biology which he uses as guide speculations on the theory of intelligent life on other planets.

Hibbs' experience has included top level scientific development work for Explorers I and II (first U.S. satellite), Pioneer II and IV (first U.S. probe to escape the Earth) and Mariner II (world's first planetary probe).

As a lecturer on government in the Division of Humanities and Social Science and instructor of a seminar course on national security affairs, Hibbs is currently working as manager of transportation technology for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory and is responsible for directing the application of space technology to the solution of transportation problems.

Hibbs has also appeared as the host on "Exploring", NBC's award winning educational television program.

There will be no admission charge and the public is invited.

Half million in hijack ransom is recovered

by DUSTON HARVEY

(UPI)—Agents who searched the home of a Vietnam veteran charged with the nation's biggest ransom hijacking revealed Monday they found $499,970 hidden in a large cardboard box.

Most of the money—all but $30 of the half million ransom paid by United Airlines to free 91 passengers last Friday night—was still in bank wrappings when discovered by the FBI in the Provo home of Richard F. McCoy Jr.

McCoy, 39, a Vietnam veteran majoring in law enforcement whose hobbies included flying and parachuting, was arrested at the brown brick house Sunday. He was held without bail on air piracy charges in Salt Lake County jail.

Agents said the money was uncovered in a large cardboard box which also contained a pistol, holster, black gloves and various items of clothing.

McCoy was accused of hijacking the United Air Lines Boeing 727 with 96 persons aboard over Colorado and forcing it to land in San Francisco. The hijacker, who carried two guns, a grenade and plastic explosives, allowed the 91 passengers to leave the plane after receiving $500,000 ransom and four parachutes.

Talent show presented

by BILL MATTON

Over 13 nations were represented during the International Talent and Fashion Show Friday and Saturday night in the college theater.

MECHA's dancers won the first place trophy while the poem and pantomime presentation by the Pakistan students captured the second award.

The talent show also featured such groups as the Poly Twirlers, Indian students, Poly Chi club, Portuguese students, Thai students, and the Iranian students.

MECHA won the competition with its colorful presentation of three dances—one of them being the ever-popular Mexican Hat Dance. Garbed in white outfits, four men and women displayed in a dance how the Mexican men court their women in Mexico.

The Pakistan Students Association presented an effective and symbolic poem and pantomime. The poem described the sun, moon, stars, death, love, evening, and life, with love winning out over all else. A separate person represented each of these, and acted in pantomime while a taped moderator read the poem to music.

Three fashion shows broke the continuity of the talent show by giving the audience a chance to see the native costumes and dress of many nations. Among the nations represented were Nigeria, Turkey, India, Scotland, Portugal, Spain, Mexico, Korea, China, Thailand, Germany, and Iran. A Hawaiian outfit was also presented.

The judges for the contest were picked at random from the audience before the performances began. There were 15 judges chosen and they were told to judge each presentation on a hundred point scale with 100 being the top score.

Mustangs manage 1-3; will face Gauchos today

by CHICO DIAZ

The Mustang baseball team traveled to Chapman College last weekend and could only manage to win one game against the fourth-ranked team in the nation. The locals took the first game 6-2, but dropped the next two on Saturday by the scores of 11-0 and 9-3.

In the first game, right-hander Mike Krukow went the distance as he gained his seventh win of the season. He received hitting support from shortstop Steve McFarland, third baseman Dave Snow, and right fielder Ted Bailey in the game.

However, the Mustangs could not keep up the good pitching as the staff allowed 30 runs in the doubleheader on Saturday. Both starters, Les Ohrn and Doug Alderman, were touched for 16 runs in the two games.

Despite the two of three losses by the locals, Coach Augie Garrido was still pleased with individual player performances.

He cited sophomore Krukow as doing an excellent pitching job on Friday. He was also pleased with the offensive performances of McFarland and Bailey.

"They were both efficient and consistent in the series," he said.

"Bailey has hit well since he's taken over the right field duties, and he has also played well defensively in the out field."

The Mustangs now have a 21-12 record. They will try to avenge an earlier loss to UC Santa Barbara as they face the Gauchos today at Poly Field at 2:30. The locals will send southpaw Dennis Root who has a 3-2 record with a 2.75 earned run average against the Gauchos.

Santa Barbara carries a 17-4 record into today's game with the Mustangs. The Gauchos are led by third baseman Tony Torres who is hitting .412, left fielder Steve Ross who has a .392 average, and Dave Powers who is hitting .314.

Garrido expects his team to play up to its capacities in today's game. He said, "We have to concentrate on doing the things we do best in order for us to win."

The locals will be without one of their top players in today's game. Second baseman Dave Oliver is a doubtful starter because of a pulled muscle he suffered in the Chapman series. Sophomore Greg Clark will start in his place at second base.

Mustang second baseman Dave Oliver makes a strained effort to avoid tag by defender in a recent game. Oliver, who pulled a muscle in the Chapman series, will be replaced by Greg Clark in today's game with UC Santa Barbara.

Cooke's cookie crumbles

The Los Angeles Lakers have chalked up yet another record in their drive for top honors in the world of pro basketball. But this record is undoubtedly one that neither Coach Bill Sharman, nor sportscaster Chick Hearn, would want to remember.

In the first playoff game of the National Basketball Association Western Division battle between the Bucks of Milwaukee and the "winningest team in basketball," the Lakers hit their lowest ebb of this season. Milwaukee's powerhouse squashed Jack Kent Cooke's pride and joy by a lopsided 93 to 73.

Possessing the usual knack of topping 100 points each game, the Lakers slipped well below the century mark for the second trip of the season down to double figures. Squeaking by with 73, the Lakers handed Milwaukee the first victory of their best-of-seven game series. The second playoff game with Sharman's win-hungry squad will be held Wednesday night at the "Fabulous Forum."

Laker scoring ace, Jerry West, still hoping to be on a championship team this year, was held to a mere 10 points in Sunday's game, compared to his usual average of 20-plus each time he graces the court.

The Stereophonic Alumni Story

Perhaps, too often we dwell on the "now" scene in our recruiting efforts for the Army ROTC program at the expense of failing to tell you what may be in store for those who finish their tours as Army officers. In an effort to rectify this shortcoming this article is designed to provide information on the present status of two local Cal Poly graduates who completed the ROTC program and their tours of duty as Lieutenants in the Army.

Roger C. Rohrs (right) graduated from Cal Poly with a B.S. in Business Administration in June 1969. Upon being commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in Field Artillery he went on active duty the following March. Soon after his basic officers course, Roger traveled to Germany during the REFORGER II Exercise and then on to Vietnam to serve. Upon being separated in November 1971 from active duty, Roger returned to San Luis Obispo where, as one of the founders of Supersonic Stereo, he had a business to return to. He later acquired an interest in Stereo West on Higuera. In reflecting upon his military experiences, Roger commented about "the fantastic travel and opportunities to meet so many interesting and different types of people." One immediate benefit he derived was the chance to observe merchandising techniques used in Europe and Asia.

Adrian N. Borja (left) also graduated from Cal Poly in 1969 with a B.S. in Industrial Technology. After spending a year continuing his education after graduation, Adrian went on active duty as an Infantry 2nd Lieutenant. After completion of the Infantry Officers Basic Course at Fort Benning, he was assigned to the Infantry Training Center, Fort Ord, California. Here he served as the executive officer of a Basic Training Company. Adrian advises: "If you want responsibility early and also want to learn something about yourself--join the Infantry!" After his release from active duty Adrian returned to San Luis Obispo and is now employed at Stereo West.

Although Roger served as a Field Artilleryman and Adrian an Infantryman, there are several Army branches in which ROTC Cadets can choose to serve such as: Medical Services Corps; Quartermaster Corps; Air Defense Artillery; Chemical Corps; Military Intelligence; Armor; Adjutant General's Corps; Military Police; Ordnance; Signal Corps; Corps of Engineers; and many others. Seventy-five percent of this year's ROTC seniors received assignments to the Army Branch of their choice and over ninety-seven percent received a branch of their first four choices.

And now back to a bit of the "now scene. Since Roger and Adrian served as ROTC Cadets, the pay for Cadets, serving in their last two years of the program, has been raised to $100 a month. Further, all male students enrolled in the program can receive immediate draft deferments. The Army ROTC program can now be completed in 4, 3, or 2 years and an aviation program is available for those who desire to fly.

If you have any questions about our program (or indeed about your draft status or about any Armed Forces program) please drop in to see our Deputy Professor of Military Science, Lieutenant Colonel Silva, in the Dexter Library Building, Room 115, or come to chat with Colonel Hastie, before he retires. You may decide to "try it--you'll like it!" The pay of a 2nd Lieutenant is getting better all the time. Base pay is now $330.70 a month plus a monthly housing allowance ($108.90 if single or $141.60 if married) and $47.88 a month for subsistence. Add $110.00 to this a month if you wish to start your training as an Army aviator.
